The MASTER IN "CULTURAL PROPERTY PROTECTION IN CRISIS RESPONSE" is organized by the SUISS (Interdepartmental University School for Strategic Sciences) of the University of Turin in collaboration with the Italian Army Education and Training Command and School of Applied Military Studies, the Carabinieri Command for the Protection of Cultural Heritage, the Conservation and Restoration Centre "La Venaria Reale", the International Institute of Humanitarian Law, and the UNESCO Chair of the University of Turin". The Master also collaborates with a strong network of international institutions and agencies including UNESCO, ICCROM, ICOM.

BACKGROUND:

The importance and the role of culture in crisis and post crisis scenarios has relevantly raised in the recent years, due to the emerging of new forms of conflicts and to the intensification of disasters. This raise of attention turned into international campaigns and into a global response promoted by UNESCO and national governments towards heritage protection, communities identity and cultural expressions safeguarding, as well as the control of illicit traffics and activities.

In this context the Master in Cultural Property Protection in Crisis Response is designed for a mixed target of civilians, military personnel, NGOs, peacekeepers, and in general, all the operators intervening in armed conflits or disasters scenarios, as well as those ones operating in the post-conflict or post-disaster recovery process.

The course aims at preparing a future generation of professionals with a multidisciplinary background and advanced expertise in the protection of cultural property in time of crisis and, more widely, in increasing the capacities to enhance the role of culture for addressing the social reconciliation and economic recovery of affected areas.
